

Gerontology Course Offerings
Fall 2015
Graduate

Required Courses

GRNT 6202-090 (CRN#16307) Research and Methods on Aging II
Dr. Julian Montoro-Rodriguez Wednesday 6:00 - 9:00

Prerequisite: GRNT 6201. Examination of the variety of qualitative and quantitative methods used in evaluation research in applied settings. Students will develop and evaluation project plan. Gerontology students will also refine their thesis/applied project proposal.

GRNT 6600—094 (CRN#12485) Current Issues in Gerontology
Dr. Julian Montoro-Rodriguez Tuesday 6:00-9:00

Study of current issues and topics in the field of aging from an interdisciplinary perspective; an ethical framework will be used to examine the issues.

KNES 5232—001 (CRN#11555) Physiology of Human Aging
Dr. Michael Turner M 3:30—6:15

This course focuses on the normal physiological alterations that occur as the human progresses from a young adult to the latter stages of life. Special attention is given to interventions commonly promoted to combat the physiological changes that result from aging.

Electives

GRNT 5050—001 (CRN#14233) Elders and Crime
Dr. Anita Blowers Tuesday 2:00—4:45
Cross listed with CJUS 5000

This course will utilize an interdisciplinary approach to understanding the role older adults have with the criminal justice system. Topics covered include: elderly offenders, elder abuse and mistreatment, and older adults as participants in the criminal justice system (jurors, witnesses, etc.). Particular attention will be placed on the administrative, legal, and ethical issues surrounding the treatment of older adults.

GRNT 5250– 001 (CRN# 16309) Aging Programs & Services
Louise Murray Wednesday & Friday 2:00—3:15
Examination of federal, state and local framework of services and programs for the aging.

GRNT 6210 – 001 (CRN#17459) Aging and Public Policy
Judy Walsh Thursday 6:00—9:00
Cross listed with MPAD 6210-090 and MALS 6000-090
Examination of the public policy making process with attention to aging policy. Consideration of determinants of aging policy and institution and actors in the policy making process and piecemeal development of legislation will be analyzed as factors relating to the making of policy for the aged.

GRNT 6211 – 001 (CRN# 16310) Administration of Aging Programs
Louise Murray Online
Focus will be the implementation of public policies and programs for the aged and the development and administration of these programs. Students will become familiar with the process through which policies are transformed into aging programs and the budgetary, management and evaluative considerations that must be considered.

GRNT 6400-001 (CRN#17537) Practicum
Dr. Julian Montoro-Rodriguez

GRNT 6800-001 (CRN#15635) Directed Reading/Research
Dr. Julian Montoro-Rodriguez TBA

GRNT 6800 – 002 (CRN#15636) Directed Reading/Research
Dr. Julian Montoro-Rodriguez TBA

GRNT 6990-001 (CRN#17394) Applied Project
Dr. Julian Montoro-Rodriguez TBA

GRNT 6999-001 (CRN#15637) Thesis
Dr. Julian Montoro-Rodriguez TBA

GRNT 6999-002 (CRN#15638) Thesis
Dr. Julian Montoro-Rodriguez TBA

For advising contact Dr. Julian Montoro-Rodriguez at 704-687-6166; jmontoro@uncc.edu